These High Holidays are right on time

Rabbi Hillel Skolnik | hskolnik@tiferethisrael.org

Many times over the past several months people have expressed in words exactly how I feel – the High Holidays are so early this year! I am sure that it has happened before, that the first night of Rosh Hashanah has fallen on September 6, though I cannot recall a year when September 6 also happened to be Labor Day. Growing up in New York where school does not start until after Labor Day, there were certainly years in which school began after the first of Tishrei, but a Labor Day barbecue with apples and honey as an appetizer is a new combination to me.

On the other hand, I'd like to prepare you for a feeling that I anticipate we'll be having next year at this time, when Rosh Hashanah begins on Sunday evening, September 25. We'll look at each other and say "The High Holidays are so late this year!" By the time we fast on Yom Kippur, our children will have been in school for more than a month and the fall festivals will seem like a welcome break from the daily routine. Once Sukkot starts next year, it will be the second full week of October and at some point we will consider whether or not it is too cold to eat outside in the sukkah.

A wise person pointed out to me recently that whether we blow 100 sounds of the shofar so early in September or even into the earliest days of October, one way or another the New Year always begins right on time. That is indeed true each year, but especially as 5781 comes to a close and we get started with 5782. It has been a long year that thankfully has included its share of happiness and celebration, but it was an entire Jewish calendar year that was lived in pandemic times. It began with High Holiday services that looked nothing like any of us had experienced before. It was a year with more than its fair share of political turmoil and insurrection in our country, but one that also brought emergency approval of COVID vaccinations. The year ends with worry over variants and case numbers that have risen once again.

On that level, I suspect many of us are more than ready to turn the page on this year and move on to a new beginning. I know that the start of 5782 is not going to look the way we dreamed it would. But I also know that the time is right to renew our hopes for the future, to think about ways that we can improve ourselves in the coming year and to ask for forgiveness from those we have hurt in the past year. Not to mention, it is never too early to dip apples in honey. For those things, Rosh Hashanah is right on time!

Wishing everyone a L'Shanah Tovah Umtukah, a happy, healthy and sweet new year!

Why I love Tifereth Israel

Diane Peters | surrenderedmusic@gmail.com

Born and raised in Columbus, Ohio, I attended East High School and The Ohio State University. I then married my high school sweetheart and had four children. I also have four grandchildren, two who live near central Ohio and two who live in Houston, Texas.

My journey to Judaism began a long time ago, when I attended a Black Hebrew Church, which closely resembled a Messianic Jewish Congregation, here in Columbus. This was not the congregation which sends guys to stand on street corners. During an interfaith trip to Israel, I met Rabbi Berman and asked him all sorts of questions. Upon our return to Ohio, I looked up Tifereth Israel and attended a service. I felt such peace in the sanctuary and felt so drawn to it. I attended services on and off. A year or so later, Tifereth Israel member Eric Fryxell invited me to come with him to a service. He explained what was going on and introduced me to people. I began to feel at home.

I love being here and knowing such wonderful people. I also love the learning that goes on here and being able to ask lots of questions.

I enjoy being a team member of B.R.E.A.D., volunteering with the social action committee, the membership committee, the communication task force, and the synagogue's Board of Trustees.

Here, to be part of your Life

Karl Rubin, President | karlrubin12@gmail.com

What I see so far...

I have been into my presidency for less than three months, but already I am excited by what I've seen.

Although the pain the world has experienced the past year and a half is not fully resolved, I regularly see on Shabbat anywhere between 80 and 125 loving, enthusiastic, and grateful people joyously greeting each other again. And even though we are wearing masks and making our best efforts at social distancing, I can see the sheer happiness in people's eyes as they greet each other. The mask cannot hide the joy people exude.

I see more young children with their parents who are just beginning to feel the rhythms of a Shabbat service and in their own way understand there is something special and different from the rest of the week.

I see an incredibly committed staff who help ensure that our experience is as safe as we can possibly make it in terms of cleaning, hygiene, and social distancing. And I see three of the very best rabbis anywhere in the world. They are wise, caring, insightful, and compassionate people who understand the history and big picture parts of our religion, as well as the more subtle, nuanced, and modern parts that are not always black and white.

I also see and continue to be amazed at the breadth and depth of programming we are able to offer our congregation. Whether it is a Boker Tov program with singing, dancing and movement for our youngest congregants, religious school classes led by Miriam Berk, adult classes with study and discussion led by our rabbis, our much-loved Dinner, Drinks and Drash series or an endless amount of other wonderful programs, we are here to serve, educate, and to be a part of your lives. Please feel free to contact me with any other ideas you have!

I look forward to seeing you in person at services, at a social program or two or at one of our endless programming events. As you read this piece, we are likely in the midst of our most holy and exciting time of the year and I want to wish you and your family a most sweet, healthy and meaningful Happy New Year!

High Holiday Preparations

Laura Moskow Sigal | Imsigal@tiferethisrael.org
Executive Director

Do you ever wonder how Tifereth Israel gets ready for the High Holidays? That answer varies greatly based on whether or not we're in the midst of a worldwide pandemic. Which, in case you're not sure, is right now. I was reviewing my notes from last year's High Holidays, where I list what went right and what we might want to change for next year. I had a major caveat at the top of the list: "This is assuming the pandemic is gone and we are back to normal." Guess what? We're not. We could all hope a year ago that this mess would be behind us. But wishing doesn't make it so. Our preparations now include ordering half as many chairs, but twice as many cleaning supplies.

Juan Pineda, our facilities manager, and his crew have been working nonstop to get our building ready for the holidays. As I've mentioned before in my columns, our 101-year-old building gives us surprises every day. Last month it was one of the air conditioners, yesterday it was a leak in the pipes, and today it is 3 large branches falling down from one of our larger trees. As much as we can prepare, curveballs come from everywhere. We've thrown out years' worth of accumulated "stuff" that no one uses any longer. Filling a large dumpster is no easy task.

Our building will be ready for you. We're so excited to welcome back our members for the holidays, yet we're sad that we won't be able to see everyone. Once again, precaution is our primary goal. We are working to keep everyone as safe as possible. Vaccination cards, masks, and social distancing will be the norm for a while. Someday soon, I hope to see your smiles instead of your masks.

This coming year, may our world be in a healthier place.

L'Shanah Tovah!

“As a torch is not diminished, though it kindles a million candles, so will one not lose who gives to a good cause.” — Exodus Rabbah 30:3
